The words 'exhilarating', 'exciting', 'relaxing' and 'utterly romantic' come to mind when combining the Ol Seki Mara Camp experience with a stay at Kizingoni Beach along the coast of Lamu. This once-in-a-lifetime honeymoon journey starts with a trip to the Kenyan bush where couples stay on a luxurious Ol Seki tented camp situated north east of the Maasai Mara Game Reserve.

The thrill of seeing the big five is heightened by an optional balloon ride at sunrise, night game drives and walks across the plains. Then it's time to chill out at Kizingoni Beach, where couples have a private pool, personal chef, an exclusive speedboat with a captain, and enjoy a cruise in a private dhow. AIRLINE UPDATE

TURKEY TO GO

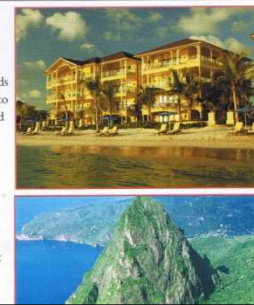

In 2010 it's Istanbul's turn to hold the title of European City of Culture, and the city is well poised to offer a combination of sun, arts and culture, history, exotic cuisine and luxury resorts.

In response to Turkey's popularity as a pocket-friendly destination, Pegasus Airlines now operates a five-weekly direct flight from London Stansted Airport to Istanbul (Sabiha Gökçen) and North Cyprus (Ercan), starting from £39.99 each way (including taxes and charges). Until 15th October, 2009, the airline will also fly direct from London Stansted to Bodrum once a week, with one-way prices starting at £65.99 (including

Cream of the Caribbean

If you visit only one destination in the Caribbean, make it St Lucia, named the World's Leading Honeymoon Destination by the World Travel Awards 2008 for the eighth year running. You only have to see an image of the world famous Pitons, (pictured below right) dramatic landscapes, coastlines and unspoilt natural wonders, to see why this island stands out from the rest of its neighbours.

Add to that a romantic stay at The Landings St Lucia, a luxury beachfront resort along Rodney Bay, where an indulgent Afterglow honeymoon package includes: a harbour front villa suite with plunge pool, sunset picnic on Rodney Bay, sunset by horseback and sunset dinner. Also part of the package are boat transfers within the resort's
